MAIN THEME OF CONFERENCE

A wooden block with a black silhouette of a hand holding a small plant with two leaves.

A multifaceted society like ours is prominently akin with law. A politically stable society prioritizes welfarism for maintaining harmony and order. Law reflects a very deeply rooted intertwining with political scenario of any nation. Infact it is futile to discuss law in isolation without its impact on the changes in the surroundings including governance and civil society. Public policies must be addressed and synchronised efficiently within the intersectional communities through adept legislations and effective administration. The equilibrium between law and socio-political dynamics is must for a flourishing society. The contributions of the legal institutions for the political processes are appreciative but as the dynamics of society is everchanging, it is required for the stakeholders to keep pace with those changes and understand the nexus among them. Transdisciplinary approach promotes and appreciates interdisciplinary research which have paved a better way to assimilate. It is reflected in robust legal policies and legislations of the present scenario. Exploration of law and political studies converge and diverge by advancing universality.

The theme of the conference is an apposite attempt to address such socio-political and legal issues with inputs from students, eminent scholars, academicians, political thinkers, lawyers, and other stakeholders from various disciplines through panel discussions followed by paper presentations.
